

Paia Scout Troop First In Islands

To those who have just awakened to an interest in the Boy Scout movement, it may be something of a surprise to learn that Maui holds the distinction of having the first Scout patrol in the Territory. This is Troop No. 1, of Paia, which was organized nearly a year ago through the efforts of Father Francis Steffen, who is the present scout master of this body. Father Francis was commissioned by the National body in December 1913, and he has one of the best disciplined troops in the Territory, completely uniformed and equipped, and highly proficient in the arts of scoutdom.

Father Francis states that he is glad to see the general interest that is now being taken throughout Maui in the Boy Scout work, and expresses the hope that strong troops may be developed in all parts of the island. He is justly proud of the proficiency which his troop of 17 scouts and 8 applicants has attained, and of the fact that it is number 1 in the list.

Dr. McLaren, of the Alexander House Gymnasium, who has organized Cuckoo Patrol, in Wailuku, returned on Wednesday from Honolulu where he went to consult with Scout Commissioner J. A. Wilder and other prominent Scout leaders. He is also enthusiastic over the outlook for the movement and believes that the good effects on the boys of the island can scarcely be estimated.

Imitations of Hawaiian Singing

Kaai's Troubadors drew a packed house at the Maui Theater on Tuesday night, as they had previously done at both Paia and Kahului. Mrs. Jack Ellis, who danced and sang, made a very favorable impression, as did her little daughter. Kaai's boys have excellent voices, but the few Hawaiian songs they rendered were so artificial as to be scarcely recognizable. They gave good imitations of coon songs in the states, but the charm which these same boys possessed a few years ago is gone. Their entertainment was about what one would expect from a bunch of good haole stage singers.

That Kaupakalua Meeting

In publishing the result of the annual meeting of the Kaupakalua Wine & Liquor Company, last week, the News' source of information was at fault, and the personnel of the directorate as given, was not correct. The officers and directors are as follow: J. V. Maciel, President & director W. T. Robinson, Vice-pres. & director J. Garcia, Secretary & Treasurer. Directors:—R. A. Wadsworth, J. Vasconcellos, J. A. Aheong, G. A. Hansen.

At a directors meeting held after the stockholders meeting D. L. Meyer was appointed General Manager (not managing-director). The Kaupakalua Wine & Liquor Company has 230 different shareholders, being one of the most widely held corporations in the county.

Stevenson Sports Editor

V. L. Stevenson, late editor of the Maui News, who for the past month has been connected with the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, became sporting editor of the Advertiser this week. Mr. Stevenson has had wide experience as a sports writer, having, prior to his coming to Maui, been sporting editor on the Bulletin, and also on the Advertiser for a number of years.

4th of July Races Will Be Best Yet

The Fourth of July races this year promise to be the best that have ever been held on the Valley Isle. The several strings of horses which are now in training are showing some classy individuals, and a great amount of interest is being manifested in their work. This is not only true among the local sportsmen, but attention is directed this way all over the Territory. It now looks as though the attendance at the big meet will be the largest on record.

Among the horses now at Kahului track are:—El Oro, Dovoilo, Parlor Maid, Maui Boy, Frances B., Advance Guard II, Athlone, Major Collier, Denervo, and Harvester.

Young People Make Crater Trip

A small party of young people made the trip through the crater and around the island by the Koolau ditch trail this week, reporting a most delightful outing. It was made up of Miss McLean, Miss McMillan, Mrs. Rodrigues, Ed. Collis, Frank B. Cameron, and a guide. The trip was begun Sunday evening the night spent on the mountain. The trip through the crater was made on Monday, and Monday night spent at Kaupo. The party was fortunate in having good weather almost all of the trip. They arrived home Thursday evening.

Boy Burglar Sentenced

Hiki Lono, a 13-year old Hawaiian boy from Hana, was convicted in the juvenile court on Friday morning, of burglary in the second degree and sentenced by Judge Kingsbury to the reform school. The boy confessed to a series of robberies, including the theft of $9 which belonged to Mrs. Fraime, his school teacher, and various other sums and jewelry from other places. Suspicion first attached to the boy on account of the amount of money he was spending in the stores, and he was arrested by deputy Sheriff Silva, last week.

Supervisors in Session

The board of supervisors met on Wednesday this week, but adjourned until Friday, owing to the illness of Supervisor Henning. All of the members are now present. Most of the work of the board for this session is of routine character.

Licenses Granted

At the board of license commissioners' meeting held on Wednesday, most of the applications for liquor licenses were granted. In order to investigate one or two matters, the board adjourned until next Friday. No protests were filed against any of the applications.

Machinist Hurt

Frank Crawford, machinist at the Wailuku Sugar Company's mill, sustained a severe scalp wound just above the eye, by being struck by a flying bolt, on Thursday. The injury is painful but not serious.

A Pleasant Affair

The entertainment and sale by the girls of the Maunaloa Seminary, last Saturday evening, was a most enjoyable affair, and was attended by a large number of persons from all parts of Maui.

The bark J. M. Griffith, with a cargo of redwood lumber for the Kahului Railroad Company, reached port Friday morning, 21 days out from Fort Bragg.

Popular Young Folks Wed

In the presence of a large and admiring crowd of friends, the marriage of Miss Rose Cordeiro to Mr. John Martins was solemnized in St. Anthony's Church, Wailuku, at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Justin. Following the marriage, the bridal party was driven to the home of the bride's parents, at Camp 1, where a reception was held.

Mrs. Martins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cordeiro, and is popular among a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Martins is well known as the manager of Camp 1 Store. The newly married couple has begun housekeeping at Camp 1.

A Little More Money

The County treasury was replenished this week by the receipt of about $20,000 from the Territorial taxes. This will probably keep the county machinery running for another month without the necessity of registering more warrants. There will probably be but little money to come from the Territory until next November's taxes are received.

Locals

Enos Vincent was a visitor to Honolulu this week.

Senator W. T. Robinson was in Honolulu this week, returning Wednesday.
